

International Dressage Rider Cesar Parra Becomes Ambassador for Trilogy Dressage Saddles

Ithaca, NY (January 21, 2010) – International dressage rider Cesar Parra has an impressive list of victories to his name including a string of wins at 2009 Dressage at Devon. In addition to his phenomenal show success, Parra has also joined Trilogy Dressage Saddles as an ambassador to the prestigious saddle company.

□“Most people know that I am very detail oriented and a bit of a perfectionist,” Parra said. “So is Debbie Witty, owner of Trilogy Dressage Saddles. She is always working hard to fit saddles in the best way possible for every horse. You can tell that she really cares about her product and customer satisfaction.”

Parra rides in the Verago Saddle by Trilogy and has become a supportive and enthusiastic representative for the company. “I can’t say enough wonderful things about Cesar,” Witty said. “Not only is he a great supporter of our saddles, but he is a great horseman and I am proud to have him as part of our Trilogy team. He is a great rider and a great person, always willing to go the extra mile. I truly admire his integrity and character.”

Parra, who recently became a United States citizen, owns Piaffe-Performance farm with facilities in New Jersey and Florida. Parra believes that courtesy, integrity, perseverance, self-control, sharing and strength of character are necessary to be successful. He also believes it takes a team. “It is all about teamwork. All of the key players on my team, from owners and grooms to beginner riders to international caliber riders, play a huge part,” Parra said. “Debbie Witty is part of that team and the service she provides is first rate.”

Parra is quick to say that along with superior service, Witty has also produced a superior saddle. “I find that the Trilogy saddles are great for the rider’s position for both the seat and the leg, plus they are very, very comfortable. In addition, I feel very close to the horse’s back,” Parra said.

Witty, a qualified saddle fitter from the Society of Master Saddlers of England, has spent years helping top riders such as Debbie McDonald, Shannon Peters, Courtney King-Dye, George Williams and Guenter Seidel with their saddle fitting needs and Witty is pleased to be adding Parra to her impressive list of names. “What an exciting addition Cesar is to our Trilogy sponsored riding team,” Witty said.

Trilogy Dressage Saddles, which are built in England by some of the most experienced craftsmen in the world, caters to a world-class clientele. Witty has developed an eye for detail, an understanding of training, and the ability to see how the rider, saddle and the horse are all affected by each other.
